Party
to Preserve

Party to Preserve was held on Sunday, November 13th at the historic Doheny Greystone Mansion. This event featured food, art and live music, with net proceeds benefiting the Friends of Greystone's efforts to support the restoration of the Doheny Greystone Mansion. Built in 1927 by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Laurence Doheny, Jr., the Doheny Greystone Estate is listed on the National Register of Historic Places and considered to be among California's most luxurious residences south of Hearst Castle.

The Friends of Greystone Board of Directors are extremely grateful to Steven Gordon for his dedication, determination and drive and to Gaby Reims Alexander for sharing her incredible talents, creativity and dedication in helping with our mission of raising funds to restore the magnificent City of Beverly Hills Doheny Greystone Estate.

The evening began with a cocktail hour sponsored by Asombroso Tequilla, LOLA Wines, Tito's Handmade Vodka and appetizers from Il Pastaio & Wally's Beverly Hills, a guided tasting of To'ak aged heirloom dark chocolate paired with cognac, and a caviar tasting with Anna Maria BlackOpal. Immediately following the cocktail hour a five-course tasting dinner was served by The Belvedere, THE Blvd, FIG, Georgie & Mariposa. Live music and dancing flowed throughout the evening, including a special performance to close the evening by The Temptations' lead singer, Louis Price and his Allstar Band. Original art was presented and on display by Art Space Warehouse, Elisabeth Caren and Aaron Roth.

Carrie Louella Wilkins Doheny (first wife)
Carrie Estelle Betzold Doheny (second wife)
Nickname "Pa D"
Edward L "Ned" Doheny (son)
Doheny Mansion, Downtown Los Angeles (residence)

Born August 10, 1856, Fond du Lac, Wisconsin
Died September 8, 1935, Los Angeles, California

The son of Irish immigrants, Doheny graduated from high school at fifteen and was named valedictorian of his class. After high school he was employed by the U.S. Geological Survey and after one year left the company to pursue his fortune prospecting in South Dakota, Arizona and New Mexico.

Doheny and his first wife, Carrie Louella Wilkins, had a daughter, Eileen, born in 1885 who at age seven died of heart disease resulting from rheumatic fever. In 1893, a year after Eileen's death, their only son Edward "Ned" Jr. was born. Edward and Carrie divorced in 1899, Edward gained custody of their son, and the following year Carrie committed suicide. In 1900 Doheny married his second wife, Carrie "Estelle" Betzold and although she bore no children she raised Ned as if he was her own.

Doheny's determination for success was constantly evident in his business endeavors. While living in Los Angeles he found an abundance of natural asphalt most notably in the La Brea tar pits area. With money loaned by Charles Canfield he dug a well looking for asphalt from which oil could be refined. Completed in 1893 the well produced over 40 barrels of oil per day, making Doheny and his partner Canfield a fortune. Doheny continued with highly profitable oil operations in Mexico, in 1901 drilling the first well in the nation. He became famous for successfully drilling the Cerro Azul No. 4 well, the largest producing well, pumping 260,000 barrels per day. Over the next fourteen years the well produced over fifty-seven million barrels. He opened large new oil fields in Mexico's "golden belt", and his company, the Pan American Petroleum & Transport Company, by the 1920s became one of the largest oil companies in the world.

Doheny's reputation was somewhat tainted by a bribe paid to Albert Fall, Secretary of the Interior, in 1921. Doheny made the "gift" of $100,000 in connection with obtaining a lease of 32,000 acres of government owned land. The resulting scandal broke soon after over similar bribes Albert Fall accepted for leasing Teapot Dome in Wyoming. Doheny, his son Ned, who delivered the money, and Ned's assistant Plunkett, were all indicted but ultimately acquitted.

Doheny and his wife Carrie were recognized philanthropists in Los Angeles as well as in Mexico, generously sharing their fortune with Catholic schools, churches, foundations and many charities.

Family nickname "Ma D"
Doheny Mansion, Downtown Los Angeles (residence)

Born August 2, 1875 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Died October 30, 1958 in Los Angeles, California

The second wife of oil tycoon Edward L. Doheny, Sr. Born Carrie Estelle Betzold in Philadelphia, she moved to Los Angeles with her German immigrant parents in 1890. She met Doheny in 1899 while working as his company's telephone operator, they married the following year and she became Edward L. "Ned" Doheny, Jr.'s stepmother, raising him as her own son, from age six when his mother passed away. With her husband often away on business, Carrie took charge of the family's personal expenses, including the management of their Chester Place and Beverly Hills estates.

Carrie Estelle Doheny was a renowned collector of books and Bibles, with areas of interest that included fine bindings, illuminated manuscripts, incunabula, and Western Americana. In 1950 she acquired the "crowning achievement" of her collection, a complete Gutenberg Bible. She later achieved her own recognition as one of the most renowned American women book collectors of the twentieth century.

Carrie Estelle Doheny was a woman of strong faith, intellectual curiosity and deep compassion for the underserved in her community. From humble origin, her marriage to Edward L. Doheny, Sr. allowed her the resources to emerge as a significant philanthropist in Los Angeles.

Edward Laurence "Ned" Doheny, Jr. was a businessman and son of oil tycoon Edward Laurence Doheny, Sr. Ned was born in Los Angeles. He had one sister, Eileen Doheny, first born child of Edward Doheny, Sr., who was born in 1884 in frail health and died from heart disease in 1892. His parents divorced when he was six and his mother Carrie Louella Wilkins Doheny committed suicide in 1901 after losing him in a custody battle. He was raised by his stepmother, Carrie Estelle Doheny. In 1913 he married Lucy Marceline Smith, daughter of an executive at the Santa Fe Railroad. They would have five children, Lucy Estelle Doheny Washington (b.1915), Edward Laurence Doheny (b.1917), William Henry Doheny (b.1919), Patrick Anson Doheny (b.1923) and Timothy Michael Doheny (b.1926).

Ned was a graduate of Los Angeles High School and entered Stanford in 1912. In January, 1913, he transferred to Southern California University, from which he graduated on June 8, 1916 where he earned a degree in business and was later elected to the Board of Trustees and President of the Alumni Association. It was Ned Doheny who furnished the money necessary to establish the Trojan Band, his generosity was largely responsible for the construction of the first unit of the now completed Science Hall, he gave $100,000 to the Endowment Campaign, he also offered an additional $100,000 if the Alumni meet their quota, a reward which has yet to be achieved.

After serving as a lieutenant in the US Navy during World War I he joined the Doheny oil business as Vice President. In December 1921, Doheny was instructed by his father to withdraw $100,000 from his own brokerage account and deliver it to US Secretary of the Interior Albert Fall in Washington. He did so accompanied by his close friend and personal secretary, Hugh Plunkett. This transaction became one of the key events of the Teapot Dome scandal (1923-1924), in which the senior Doheny and rival oil magnate Harry F. Sinclair were accused of bribing Albert Fall to gain leases on government-owned oil reserves. He has been called "The Bagman of Teapot Dome" for his role in the 1920s political controversy.

During the years of litigation that followed, Doheny kept a low profile in the business world and devoted his free time to supervising the construction of Greystone, his over $3 million mansion in Beverly Hills. The work was completed in October 1928 but his residence there would be brief. On the night of February 16, 1929, Doheny and Hugh Plunkett were found shot to death in one of Greystone's guest bedrooms. Within twenty four hours police concluded that Plunkett had murdered Doheny and then turned the gun on himself.

Reigning matriarch of Southern California's pioneering, petroleum wealthy Doheny family. The former Lucy Smith of Pasadena was married in 1914 to Edward Laurence Doheny Jr., only child of Edward L. Doheny, Sr. who struck oil in Southern California and Mexico. The couple had five children, Lucy Estelle Doheny Washington (b.1915), Edward Laurence Doheny (b.1917), William Henry Doheny (b.1919), Patrick Anson Doheny (b.1923) and Timothy Michael Doheny (b.1926). Ned Doheny and his wife built the legendary Doheny Greystone Estate next to the former Doheny Ranch in Beverly Hills.

The Doheny's lived in the Mansion less than a year before Ned was fatally shot by his secretary on February 16, 1929. The young widow served as administrator of Doheny's estate of about $14 million in stock in the Petroleum Securities Corp. Three years later she married Leigh M. Battson, a San Francisco and Los Angeles financier. Mrs. Battson was a founding member and several term president of the Junior League of Los Angeles, and during World War II was a leader of Naval Aid. She was active in the Los Angeles and Eldorado Country Clubs. Fourteen grandchildren, twenty seven great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren also survived her.

Oilman Edward L. Doheny, Sr. One of the Leading Industrial Titans of the Early Twentieth Century

Oilman Edward L. Doheny, Sr., one of the leading industrial titans of the early twentieth century, played a singular role in the dawn of the age of petroleum. Drawn to the west in search of his fortune, he failed at prospecting before finding oil in a tar-befouled lot in Los Angeles in 1892 where he drilled the region's first commercial free-flowing well. Certain that the substance had commercial value, he astutely envisioned that steamships and locomotives would soon be powered by oil instead of coal.

Edward Doheny, Sr. discovers oil at "Greasy Gulch," near Westlake Park

Doheny had already made a significant fortune in the California oil fields by 1900 when he ventured into the wilds of Mexico. Deep in dense jungle and dangerous swampland, Doheny discovered potentially oil-rich parcels. He then raised huge sums from investors to fund construction of rail lines, roads, pipelines and pumping facilities needed to capture and transport the crude. When early wells failed to produce as expected, Doheny gambled everything he owned on the venture and at one low point desperately pawned his wife's jewels.

Doheny and eight of his American Managers at a Pan American Petroleum drilling site in the jungles of Mexico, 1905-10

In 1916, Doheny struck a gusher of historic size when he delivered the mighty Cerro Azul, in the Mexican State of Veracruz, with a record-setting well that would produce 270,000 barrels of oil each day. Over the next fourteen years it spouted an astounding 60 million barrels of crude. As he expanded into Mexico, Doheny drilled some of the most famous gushers in the history of oil production. He built a vast business that made him one of the richest men in the world. By the 1920s, Doheny's oil empire was considered one of the greatest concentrations of private capital in the world.

Mexico newspaper artwork showing protests against foreign oil "THE OIL IS OF MEXICO"

But Doheny's fortunes would soon change. In Mexico, resentment against foreign oil barons grew and the government moved to seize their assets and nationalize the industry. In the United States, his accomplishments were overshadowed by the Teapot Dome scandal involving the alleged bribery of a cabinet official by wealthy oilmen including Doheny. The scandal resulted in drama-filled Congressional hearings and over ten years of high-profile civil and criminal trials.

Even though a jury found Doheny innocent of bribery and he was fully acquitted of all charges, his image was forever tarnished. Despite his pivotal role in the dawn of the American Century he wasn't granted the status attributed to other U.S. financial and industrial giants such as Rockefeller, Vanderbilt, Carnegie, Morgan, Frick, Astor, Getty, and Huntington, whose contributions to U.S. economic growth and industrial prominence were widely recounted.

A 1924 cartoon depicting Edward Doheny and Albert Fall racing down an oil-slicked road to the White House trying to outpace the Teapot Dome Scandal.

By omitting Doheny, historians fail to recognize his role in the ascendance of the United States as a world power. Nevertheless, Doheny's foresight and drive, his great belief in petroleum as fuel for progress and his willingness to risk his personal fortune to find and market oil, played a crucial part in the economic growth of the nation in the early twentieth century. Doheny firmly believed that hard work could create shared benefits and he spoke with pride of his contribution to the industrial wealth of the nation.

Doheny Oil Tanker the "William H. Doheny"

Edward L. Doheny Sr.'s story, his individualism and drive coupled with the opportunity to disrupt an old technology and raise up a new one, comes to us now as a cautionary and truly American tale. Doheny helped give birth to the modern world as we know it but was denied the place he deserved in popular memory as one of the true giants of his age. New generations can evaluate Doheny's contribution and assess his petroleum legacy. We are all Doheny heirs.

The students of Ms. Garratt's and Mr. Moraoica's AP United States History classes were taken on a private tour of Doheny Greystone Estate by the Senior Park Rangers for the City of Beverly Hills. The students learn in a few hours about Doheny Greystone Estate, a nationally recognized historic property built in the 1920s by oil tycoon Edward Laurence Doheny, Jr.

The Friends of Greystone Board of Directors would like to THANK...

OUR two amazing teachers, your continued support of this program has made all the difference in the world. Your recognition of the importance of the Doheny Greystone Estate, along with its history, carries over in your students.

OUR Rangers Steve, Chae, John and Allen for giving another educational and entertaining tour and for providing support to our Friends of Greystone team.

OUR wonderful current council member, and past City Mayor, Julian Gold, for always being there for Friends of Greystone and for always providing to us such great support. You have a way with words and we always love to hear what you say to the students about Greystone, its history, and our organization.

OUR teen advisory to the board Julian, you are the absolute BEST!!! You have overseen this program for the past one and half years, you have done a tremendous job in raising awareness of our beautiful Greystone amongst your fellow students. You have accomplished so much for the Friends of Greystone, thank you for everything that you do for this program.

STUDENT ESSAYS FROM TOUR

Samantha Boudaie - Places like the Doheny Greystone Mansion offer a history lesson that you can't get in a classroom. Museums and historical monuments tell stories. You might be able to get the background history of Egypt's pyramids, but actually experiencing and basking in the glory of such pieces delivers a priceless worldliness. Historical places are important in illustrating the past. The Doheny Greystone Mansion, in particular, became woven into United States history and remains impactful to this day.

Navid Nourmohamadia - We could experience the story telling by the park rangers way better than we could ever read it off the internet or an article. Inside the estate, we can see how daily life was taken place and understand the size scale of how big the mansion truly is. Anyone can read about the history of the Doheny Greystone Mansion, but to be able to stand in the murder room or see the murals and arts of the building is the difference of taking a tour inside a historical landmark. Inside, we can experience the activities the Doheny's could do such as the bowling alley and the movie theater.

Sabrina Saitta - Although Doheny Greystone may sound impressive on paper, it's even more impressive in person. The vast amount of garden that's so tenderly cared for, and the quality of detail that is just not found today through mass manufacturing, really gives insight into the fact that the mansion was not only a privilege of the wealthy, but an honor. I think the main aspect that I took away from visiting Greystone and listening to Mr. Doheny's story is that, no matter where you are in life, a little inspiration can lead you a long way. I think that today Doheny Greystone represents a great place for events and activities and offers tourists visiting Beverly Hills a chance to indulge in the rich culture that has been so eloquently preserved.

Jonathan Kermanshachi - My experience at the Greystone Mansion was one I would never forget. Instantly the architecture reminds us of the glorious capitalistic days of the early 1900's, and made us feel like we are living in it. Just entering the garden area of the mansion gave me chills. My favorite part of the whole experience was sitting down in the sitting room and learning about the great Edward Doheny. Before, the only knowledge I had of his name was the street Doheny. Little did I know how great of a man filled that name. The stories we got from the house also gave us a feeling of how large the Dohenys lived. All this contributed to the thrilling time I had at the Doheny Greystone Mansion.

October 2016 CELEBRITY CHEF APPEARANCE

Winner of Bravo's "Top Chef All-Stars," successful chef restaurateur, James Beard, award-nominated cookbook author and television personality, and celebrity chef Richard Blais starred on the Doheny Greystone terrace with a private cooking demonstration. What a truly special evening.

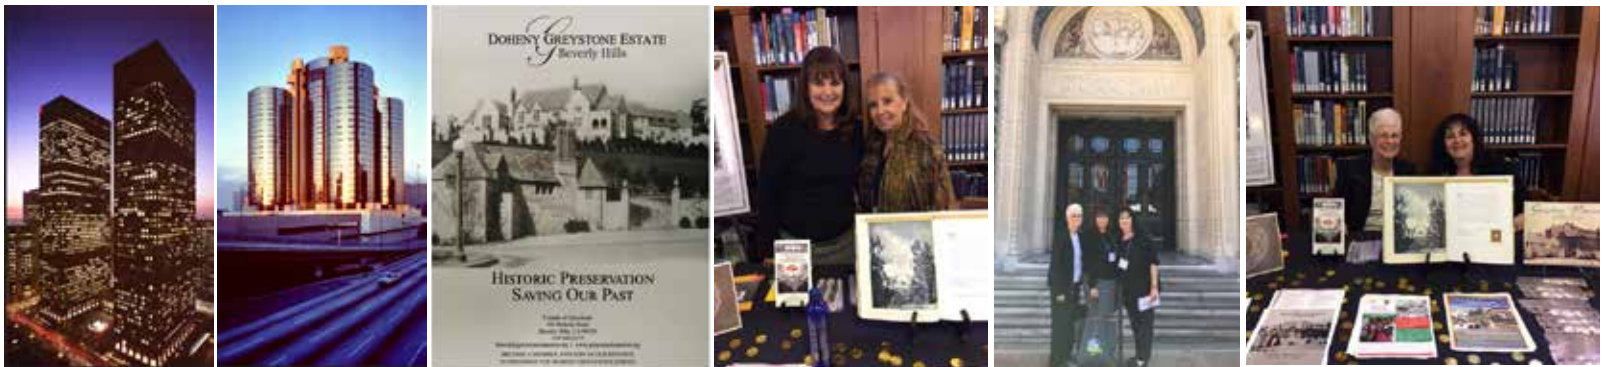

October 12th, Wednesday FOND MEMORIES OF GERALD LINKIN

December 14, 1932 - October 12, 2016 Gerald "Jerry" Linkin, Friends of Greystone Board of Directors member, passed away peacefully at home of heart failure, surrounded by friends and family. Jerry was 83 years old. Jerry was born in Boston, Massachusetts in 1932 to Sam and Rose Linkin. He graduated from Watertown High School and ventured to California in 1953 where he graduated from UCLA in 1957. He enjoyed a varied career in public relations working with companies such as El Al and Enterprise Rent-a-Car. Jerry went on to form Linkin Communications and provided marketing services for numerous clients. He had been actively involved in the community as a former president of B'nai B'rith and sat on the Board of Governors at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center as well as the board of the Friends of Greystone.

Jerry was a friend to everyone he met and was the kindest, most loving person. He had an inquisitive mind and the rare ability to make everyone feel they were special, friends, family and strangers alike. He is survived by his wife Lynn Klinenberg Linkin. In lieu of flowers the family asks that donations be made to The Board of Governors Regenerative Medicine Institute or to the Friends of Greystone.

December 7th, Wednesday FRIENDS OF GREYSTONE BOARD OF DIRECTORS ANNUAL DINNER

Friends of Greystone Board of Directors Annual Holiday Dinner was held this year at Café Amici Beverly Hills. The evening started with a three-course dinner followed by dessert. Each board member and significant other brought a delightful, desirable holiday-wrapped gift selected from their “Regifting Closet” for our anonymous gift exchange. A wonderful celebration was had by all in recognition of another amazing year of several restoration and preservation projects being completed at the Doheny Greystone Mansion.

November 19th, Saturday LECTURE AND BOOK SIGNING GORDON B. KAUFMANN

Marc Appleton, Bret Parsons, Steve Vaught, and with their book, "Gordon B. Kaufmann, Master Architects of Southern California 1918-1941", shared their knowledge on one of the most gifted architects to leave his mark in Southern California. Before the presentation a light buffet lunch was served in the Mansion's Card Room catered by Le Petite Spoon. Born in England, Gordon B. Kaufmann arrived in the United States practically penniless. Within a few short years he would rise to prominence as one of the finest architects on the west coast, with commissions ranging from Doheny Greystone Mansion, to the Los Angeles Times Building, to Hoover Dam. "Gordon B. Kaufmann, Master Architects of Southern California 1918- 1941," is the first in a series of twelve volumes about Southern California's remarkable residential architects. Appleton is an architect with a master's degree from the Yale School of Architecture. Parsons is a realtor and architectural director of Coldwell Banker Southern California. Vaught is an architectural historian who specializes in Southern California architectural and social history. Lecture moderator Christine Anderson is President of Communications Art and Design, Inc., a public relations and marketing firm for the design world.

Marc Appleton says: It was a such a delight and a real honor to be able to speak about Gordon B. Kaufmann inside one of his most famous homes and to share an afternoon with such a great group. I was so impressed by everyone's love, passion, and knowledge of this truly irreplaceable landmark as well as the warmth and graciousness with which we were received. It seems that Greystone has some amazing friends indeed.

Steve Vaught says: Please let me add my thanks and appreciation to Bret's. It was a wonderful event!

Bret Parsons says: This afternoon was a beautifully organized event: elegant, delicious, happy, and inclusionary. Thank you for making our Kaufmann talk special and successful. I spoke with several who not only appreciated the presentation, but felt a kinship with our passion to memorialize the great architects and homes of Southern California. Beverly Hills is lucky indeed to have Greystone Mansion -- a glorious hub in which to meet and greet on all levels and for all purposes. I can't imagine a more appropriate spot for our first official Kaufmann presentation.

GREYSTONE

The Friends of Greystone were delighted to once again present "Christmas Matters Holiday Carolers" for a third year in a row at the festively decorated Doheny Greystone Mansion. Guests spent a festive afternoon listening to the carolers perform some of their favorite holiday songs in the Mansion's Grand Living Room followed by a desert buffet catered by Sweet Nothings. Guests met the performers and did some holiday shopping at the Friends of Greystone Gift Shop.

Established in 1989, Christmas Matters Holiday Carolers began as a group of friends who sang in a Madrigal and Renaissance Faire group called the Country Matters. They continued their singing through the holidays and started a singing group called Christmas Matters, every year getting bigger and better and more popular in the Southern California area. In 2013 the group incorporated and became known as Christmas Matters Holiday Carolers, LLC. Their repertoire encompasses the most loved holiday songs from sacred to secular, from traditional to contemporary, and from classical to jazz. They delighted the guests with their music, ensuring a special afternoon to be long remembered.

Christmas time in the Mansion was a big Doheny celebration of family, presents and food. The Friends of Greystone are carrying on the tradition that the Doheny's had from 1928 to 1955 by having a December holiday celebration so please join us December 3, 2017. CONCOURS d'ELEGANCE

Featured car of Concours d'Elegance 2017 is a 1962 Mercedes-Benz 300SL

A little history on the 1962 Mercedes Benz 300SL Roadster. Mercedes Benz never really intended on building the 300SL road going version of their famous racecar. Max Hoffman, a New Yorker and leading importer of Mercedes to America, thought a road going version would captivate the postwar American market and it did just that. He would place an initial order for 1,000 vehicles and the 300SL was born. First launched as a 300SL Gullwing Coupe in 1954 with the gullwing doors that would ultimately become an iconic Mercedes Benz feature, the first cars would have a U.S. sticker price of $6,820, raising to a final $8,902 by the end of the production run. Later in 1957, the 300SL would be reborn as the 300SL Roadster. In total, Mercedes would sell 1,400 units of the 300SL Gullwing Coupe from August 1954 to May 1957 and 1,858 units of the 300SL Roadster from May 1957 to February 1963. Of those, 244 would be the 1962 Mercedes Benz 300SL Roadster models.

Historic Doheny Greystone Mansion Door Knobs

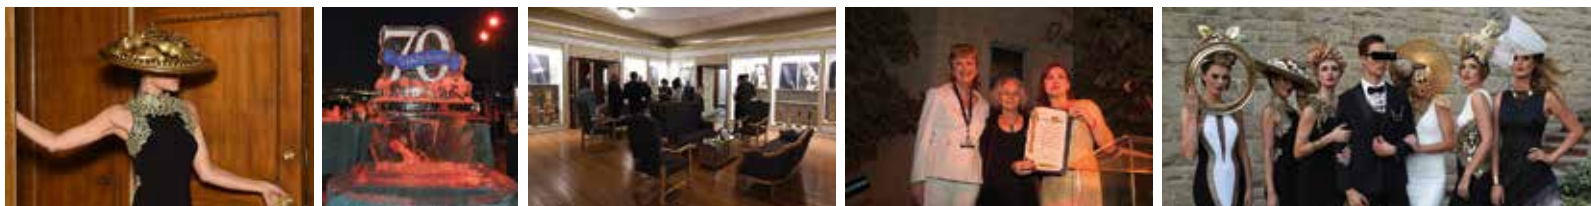

New Baldwin Hardware Door Knobs

If you have a 46,000 square foot mansion with 55 livable rooms, how many doors do you have? That was the question for the Friends of Greystone when Baldwin Hardware, headquartered in Orange County, offered to donate replacements for missing door knobs and door hardware throughout the Mansion in honor of their 70th Anniversary. Most of the original knobs had disappeared over the years Doheny Greystone Mansion stood unoccupied. Some doors had no hardware, while others had mismatched replacements added piecemeal.

The answer is that there are 164 doors at Greystone. Of these, Baldwin donated hardware and installation for 102 doors. The Friends of Greystone paid for additional repairs on 68 of the doors. The hardware chosen was close to the styles and finishes originally at Doheny Greystone Mansion as identified from historic photos and the few remaining originals in the house. All installation and repairs were completed by contractor Gerald Rose in record time. The results - all of Doheny Greystone Mansion's 164 doors are now looking beautiful and are in working order.

November 11th, Thursday BALDWIN HOSTS THEIR 70 YEARS BOLD GALA

Baldwin, as the culmination of a year's worth of anniversary activities across the country, gathered hundreds of influential architects and designers, customers and employees with a gala to celebrate their 70th Anniversary at the Doheny Greystone Mansion called, "Baldwin Door Couture". Each couture look incorporated design cues from Baldwin knobs from the past seven decades uniting legacy and history with beauty and innovation.

The Friends of Greystone and the City of Beverly Hills are extremely grateful and appreciative of Baldwin Hardware's donation which restored and recreated the Mansion's historic door knobs, locks, and miscellaneous hardware. Baldwin is an invaluable partner in the restoration of the historic Doheny Greystone Estate's "The 100 Door Project," valued at $75,000.00.

Written by Gay Lyn Parrish, Friends of Greystone board member, who worked tirelessly on this project that resulted in this priceless outcome.

Circa 1960

Present

Present

DESCRIPTION: As part of its mission to restore and preserve the Doheny Greystone Mansion in Beverly Hills, the Friends of Greystone seek financial sponsorship to renovate the Estate’s original movie theater. The inclusion of a private movie theater was far ahead of its time. The first talkies were being released when the forty seat theater made its debut from across the main entrance to the fifty-five room Mansion. Our goal is to restore the theater to the plush intimate movie palace it once was, with state-of-the-art sound and electronic equipment. Once all of the proposed elements are completed, the theater will be used to introduce visitors to the property, for cultural and educational purposes, as well as for rentals for private screenings. If funding is provided by a single source, the theater can be named after the donor. Arrangements for private screenings in the theater and other uses of Greystone and its 18-acre grounds would be made available to the donor.

DATE OF ORIGIN: 1927-1928

Dimensions: Entire room also known as a “tennis court shape theater”

Approximate Cost to Restore: $1,500,000.00

CURRENT STATE OF THEATER:

The American Film Institute (AFI) left Doheny Greystone Estate in 1982 and since then the theater and screening room have remained closed and unused. American Film Institute (AFI) rented Doheny Greystone Estate from the City of Beverly Hills from 1965 to 1982 and altered the original theater to fit their requirements, of which remnants still remain today (see photo above). In the last ten years the City of Beverly Hills has done mold abatement and ensured that the theater was safe to walk inside. The projection booth remains closed, no historic pictures of this space are known to exist at this time with exception of above circa 1960 photo that was given to the Friends of Greystone by the American Film Institute (AFI).

RESTORATION PROCESS INCLUDES:

- Removal of existing theater seats placed by AFI and replace with appropriate seating.
- Identify any repairs and/or replacement work needing to be done.
- Identification of historic elements to be preserved.
- Decorative wood ceiling to be cleaned and repaired due to sustained moisture damage.
- Decorative wall sconces to be cleaned, rewired and replaced.
- Electrical engineer to address heating, air conditioning, plumbing and life safety (alarms, sprinklers).
- Investigation and testing of roofing, flashing and roof drainage.

LADIES POWDER ROOM BATHROOM

DESCRIPTION: The Ladies Powder Room was the first stop for many women upon arrival at the mansion, allowing them to freshen up before continuing on to the public rooms. In 1945 this contained an elaborately carved wood Venetian baroque console sink with a beige marble top. The most unusual piece of furniture was the Louis XV commode chair that hid the bowl.

Manufacturer: Unsigned

DATE OF ORIGIN: 1928

Dimensions: N/A

Materials: Tile and Stone

Approximate Cost to Restore: $65,00.00

CURRENT STATE OF LADIES POWDER ROOM BATHROOM:

The only historical elements in this room are the stone walls and floors and mirrors.

The majority of stone walls and floors are in very good condition but do show some signs of wear and age.

There is no original décor in this room except the two mirrors.

The current sink was donated from a design show house and does not reflect the period.

The chrome needs polishing.

RESTORATION PROCESS INCLUDES:

A representative area will be chosen to provide a mock-up for the client to review before proceeding with the entire installation.

The surface of the stone tiles will be cleaned with a conservation grade detergent and distilled water.

Stubborn soiling and accretions will be reduced with solvent based cleaners and poultices.

The cracks and accompanying losses will be filled with a reversible, inert, patching mortar or epoxy putty and painted with a system that mimics the surrounding surfaces in color and sheen.

Missing grout will be replaced with a proprietary grout similar in color and texture. The grout will be sealed with a proprietary grout sealer.

The ornate vanity sink cabinet from 1945 will be reproduced from the photo in either wood or wrought iron to withstand years of usage as the main working bathroom in the mansion for ladies.

A cabinet will be reproduced similar to the style of the room that will be under the mirrored wall across from the vanity sink to house paper goods and other necessary supplies.

The chrome will be polished.

A three row towel bar will be reproduced adjacent to the sink.

Paint ceiling and walls

A report documenting the methods and materials used in this treatment will be written.

Maintenance recommendations will be included with this report.

HISTORIC CARD ROOM OIL PAINTING

circa 1928

Published book
"A Quiet Mastery"

today

DESCRIPTION: One oil painting originally belonging to a series of eight oil paintings known as the Greystone Murals, painted by John Frost (1890-1937), circa 1928, as seen once hanging on the west wall of the Card Room in historic photo of Doheny Greystone Mansion. In 1927 the Doheny family commissioned the artist to paint several large artworks for decor inside the Mansion. This series of paintings adorned the walls of the Card Room, depicted the beauty of the Italian Alps, and served as a significant attraction for guests of the Doheny family.

ARTIST: John Frost (1890-1937)

DATE: circa 1928

DIMENSIONS: One panel measures 98" (h) x 100" (w)

MATERIALS: Oil on canvas mounted to an original plywood support backing

PROVENANCE: Doheny Greystone Mansion, custom designed and painted by John Frost, circa 1928
Removed from Greystone and subsequently purchased by a private party, date unknown
Acquired by John Abraham, anonymous estate sale, Arcadia, California, 2002
Published in a book on John Frost "A Quiet Mastery". Currently with a gallery in Southern California

APPROXIMATE COST: A gallery is in possession of this one panel with an asking price of $600,000.

PROJECT SPONSORED BY A PRIVATE DONOR AND COMPLETED IN 2016

DESCRIPTION: Daughter Dickey Dull's bathroom has pink floor tile and Cuerda Seca pink wall tiles.

Tile Manufacturer: Quilley & McBein

DATE OF ORIGIN: 1928

Dimensions: N/A

Materials: Tile

Approximate Cost to Restore: $4,700.00

CURRENT STATE OF DAUGHTER'S BATHROOM:

The tile installation appears to be in good structural condition. There are several hairline cracks in the wall and floor tiles. The tiles are in good visual condition. There is dirt in the cracks and chips along the edges of the tiles.

RESTORATION PROCESS INCLUDES:

The surface of the tiles and grout will be cleaned with a conservation grade detergent and distilled water.

Stubborn soiling and accretions will be reduced with solvent based cleaners.

The cracks and losses in the tiles will be filled with a reversible, inert, patching mortar or epoxy putty and painted with a system that mimics the surrounding surfaces in color and sheen.

KITCHEN FLOWER CUTTING AND BAKING PORCELAIN SINK

PROJECT SPONSORED BY CHRISTY & STEVE AND McAVOY AND CURRENTLY IN PROGRESS

DESCRIPTION: One of three historic kitchens, the Flower Cutting/Baking Kitchen is original. The porcelain sink is unique as it was made to hold flowers in the round cylinder section of the sink.

Manufacturer: Unknown

Date of Origin: 1928

Dimensions: N/A

Materials: Porcelain

Approximate Cost to Restore: $5,000.00

CURRENT STATE OF THE FLOWER CUTTING AND BAKING KITCHEN:

The sink is in poor condition; extensive craquelure and stains

RESTORATION PROCESS INCLUDES:

Use poultice to remove as much stain as possible.

Remove soil, stabilize the fixture, and not using the fixture is the conservation approach for retaining the sink for presentation and interpretation for the indefinite future. A reversible treatment that aesthetically reintegrates an area of loss or provides a pleasing "like new" appearance is not a bad approach. However, it is not necessary to restore a material or finish to original, "like new" appearance.

A report documenting the methods and materials used in this treatment will be prepared along with including maintenance recommendations.

Approximate Cost to Restore: $5,500.00

CURRENT STATE OF NORTH GUEST BATHROOM:

The tile installation appears to be in good structural condition. There are several hairline cracks in the wall and floor tiles. The sink has a major crack. The tiles are in good visual condition. There is dirt in the cracks and chips along the edges of the tiles.

RESTORATION PROCESS INCLUDES:

The surface of the tiles and grout will be cleaned with a conservation grade detergent and distilled water.

Stubborn soiling and accretions will be reduced with solvent based cleaners.

The cracks and losses in the tiles will be filled with a reversible, inert, patching mortar or epoxy putty and painted with a system that mimics the surrounding surfaces in color and sheen.

The sink patches will be inpainted using Golden MSA Acrylic paints and Golden MSA Gloss and Satin varnishes.

Missing grout will be replaced with a proprietary grout similar in color and texture.

The grout will be sealed with a proprietary grout sealer.

Non-Historic hardware from previous fixtures will be carefully removed from the tiles.

HISTORIC NEWS

ALL ABOUT THE PETROLEUM SECURITIES BUILDING

An official Los Angeles historic cultural monument, known as the Petroleum Securities Building, is located at 714 W. Olympic Boulevard in downtown Los Angeles between Figueroa and Flower Streets. Built in 1925 by oil magnate Edward L. Doheny, Sr. and by architects Raymond M. Kennedy, Meyer & Holler.

ALL ABOUT THE MAYAN THEATRE

The Mayan Theater was built in 1927 by oil magnate Edward L. Doheny, Sr. as a legit theatre designed for musicals. The architect was Morgan, Walls & Clements, who also designed the Belasco Theatre next door, and the Pellissier Building, home of the Wiltern Theatre. The Mayan offers an outstanding example of a historic theatre from the 1920s being saved through adaptive re-use.

ALL ABOUT THE BELASCO THEATRE

Also commissioned by Edward L. Doheny, Sr. and designed by Morgan, Walls & Clements, the Belasco Theatre was built in 1926 and intended primarily as a house for legit plays and is located next door to the Mayan Theatre. The Spanish-Moorish Revival-style structure is marked by a gilded domed ceiling, lush tile work, stained glass windows, and Churrigueresque detailing.

TODAY'S NEWS

December 22nd, Thursday ROCKIN' RETIREMENT PARTY

Brad Meyerowitz retired after thirty-eight years working for the City of Beverly Hills, the majority of which was served in the Recreation Services Department of which he oversaw the Doheny Greystone Estate. One of many farewell parties was held at Doheny Greystone Mansion in his honor. The Friends of Greystone presented Brad with an engraved glass award of recognition for his dedication and support of our mission and an original Doheny Greystone Mansion door knob in honor of all his assistance with the Baldwin 100 door knob project.

IN MEMORY OF A DOHENY GREYSTONE ESTATE HERO

Rudy Cole's (1925-2013) purpose every day was to make a difference assisting the City of Beverly Hills' growth from residential to commercial. With his Beverly Hills newspaper and the power of words and a pen, he strived to make Beverly Hills the best city government in the country. But what he was most proud of was the rescue of Doheny Greystone Mansion as an architectural treasure and hallmark of the City of Beverly Hills, with its magnificent view and beautiful garden. With a group of citizens, and in one weekend, they formed the Greystone Foundation and through the City attorney's office gained enough time to fund the purchase and save Greystone from the wrecking ball. As a President of the Greystone Foundation in 2001 he helped form the Friends of Greystone. The Doheny Greystone Estate is now listed on the National Register of Historic Places, it is a place of peace and quiet, a refuge for all to enjoy and when you visit just imagine Rudy Cole sitting on the garden bench with pipe in hand and a big smile on his face. Written by David Frazer, son of Rudy Cole.
